TRADETECH DIRECTORY

Introduction

The trading system is changing as it moves into the digital era to become cheaper, faster, simpler, more secure and sustainable.

Companies that are digitalising trade processes (transactions, finance, customs, shipment) are improving liquidity, cutting costs 80%, moving goods over the borders 80% faster, doubling trade flows, improving workforce productivity 60%, and able to deploy new technologies, such as AI, at scale. Digitalisation enables companies to be more agile and resilient.

This directory is designed to help companies identify which TradeTech companies to work with. All the companies listed have proven track records in trade digitalisation and offer a variety of related services.

The TradeTech sector includes companies (solution providers) offering technologies, products, or services that:

- make cross-border trade cheaper, faster, simpler, more secure and sustainable
- promote an open, interoperable environment for cross-border trade
- deliver end-to-end solutions — buyer to seller, jurisdiction to jurisdiction
- provide reliability and meet legal requirements.

This includes solution providers that use:

International data standards for open, interoperable cross border trade

Data-driven solutions and electronic versions of trade ‘documents’ and related processes

Artificial intelligence (AI): optimising logistics and predicting trade flows with advanced analytics

Blockchain: strengthening transparency and security in supply chain transactions

Internet of Things (IoT): enabling real-time tracking and monitoring of goods

Digital identity and authentication: facilitating seamless customs clearance and access to working capital (trade finance)

Automation and robotics: enhancing efficiency in warehouses, ports, and logistics operations

Market infrastructure: provides complementary infrastructure solutions i.e. invoice registries
